5. Wait 30 to 60 minutes between coats, quicker in warmer months or if painting outside in a breeze.
6. Apply second coat, paint with a gentle hand and try not to paint over and over the same area.
7. You will know your paint is dry and ready to sand by testing a small area with your sanding block ...it will sand easily, and a chalky dust will appear, your piece will become very smooth and feel beautiful after a gentle sand.
8. Dust off all chalky residue with an old brush or use a dry cloth.

Generally, 1 coat is enough but apply 2/3 coats on high traffic area for best protection, example table tops and chairs that are used daily or use the EZ2 Liquid Wax on the retro range and on parts that do not get used and touched daily.

Don't worry about drip marks or brush marks as you can sand these all out or leave them there for character and true bespoke finish.

Canterbury Blue™ Furniture Paint is a porous forgiving paint that is soft to sand and will allow you to choose what type of look and finish you desire. The more you sand the smoother the finish.
